

Based on a twnety-one year law enforcement aviation career, and ten years in commercial aviation, I feel that this requirement will add nothing to safety, hijack prevention, or apprehension.

The only thing it will add is millions of dollars of unnecessary expenses to FAR 121 air carriers.

This appears to be knee-jerk plan to make the public feel good.